DISCOVER THE HOMELAND OF ÖTZI

Welcome to Schnalstal Valley

The discovery of Ötzi the Iceman proved that hunters and shepherds used to walk through this region over 5,300 years ago. The valley is absolutely uncommon, as in few kilometers it shifts from 500 meters to 3,200 meters above sea level - from almost mediterranean to high mountain. Let the fascinating combination of unpolluted nature, tradition and fun for all the family capture you.

If you need any information, please visit us at the tourist office in Certosa.

The Schnalstal Valley and his localities

Centuries-old farmsteads set amongst blossoming farmers' gardens are testimony to how proud their owners are of tradition and ancestry, from generation to generation. Many traditions are still practiced today, for example, Transhumance, where sheep are herded across the Alpine ridge by their shepherds. And, thanks to the discovery of Ötzi the Iceman, we have acquired new knowledge about what life was like during the Neolithic Age.

Every village in Schnalstal Valley has its own impressive story to tell. From the one-time Schnalsburg fortress on the rock in Monte S. Caterina to the former monastery in the small village of Certosa, where you can still feel the spirit of the Carthusian monks today. The pilgrimage church of Madonna di Senales exemplifies the significance of the area as an important transit region in the Middle Ages. Eight farms had to give way for Vernago Lake - you can still see the top of the church tower today when the water level is low. The ski resort pioneer, Leo Gurschler, was responsible for building the glacier cable car, the highest cable car in South Tyrol, and he was also instrumental in the economic development of Schnalstal Valley.

MONTE S. CATERINA 1,245 m a.s.l.

After the tight canyon at the entrance to the Valley, the Valley widens and you will see the chapel of the village of Monte S. Caterina on your right. The chapel is like a signpost for the village. Once upon a time, this rocky hill was crowned with the castle of the „Lords of Schnals“, which gave the valley its name. Not only the inhabitants, but also our guests enjoy life in the village: the mild climate, lots of sun, stillness, wonderful hiking routes with direct access to the Alta Via di Merano in the Texel Natural Park, as well as some picturesque views into the valley and over the mountains.

PFOSSENTAL VALLEY 1,693 - 2,875 m a.s.l.

Half way up the hill in the direction of Certosa, a signpost on your right leads you to the exit of the Pfoßental Valley. First of all, the road runs steeply up the largest side valley of the Schnalstal Valley. The Vorderkaserhof is the starting point for a popular alpine hiking trip into the protected area of the chamois and ibex. Along the road, which is also part of the Alta Via di Merano and which leads you across the Eisjöchl into the back of the Passeiertal Valley. And if you are looking for some rest and a meal, while enjoying the panoramic views, there are a number of alpine huts along the way. Hikers on a longer trip, as well as holidaymakers will find a place to stay overnight.

CERTOSA 1,327 m a.s.l.

During the drive back into the valley, this idyllic village should not be missed, although it is hardly visible from the valley road, even though it is only 600 meters on the left of the main road. This is where the Carthusian monks once lived and you still can feel the spiritual presence within the cloister walls. In 1924, the village was nearly totally destroyed, but even today, visitors can find numerous traces of the former Allerengelberg monastery. Today, the wonderfully renovated Certosa is the seat of the town hall, the municipal office, as well as the post office.

MADONNA DI SENALES 1,508 m a.s.l.

Where the valley at its widest, you will come to the village Madonna di Senales. The pilgrimage church looks far into the valley. Worship of the small statue of Mary goes back over seven centuries; it is the oldest documented pilgrimage church in Tyrol. Reflection in the midst of a magnificent landscape can be found on the pilgrimage trail or the Via Monachorum. More action can be found to the archeo-Parc. This adventure museum with authentic huts gives you some insight into the habitat and the circumstances of the Iceman Ötzi.

VERNAGO 1,700 m a.s.l.

Today, the lake reflects a wonderful range of colours during the summer months, as well as in autumn. From Vernago a path runs through the Tisental Valley to the Similaun refuge hut and up to a height of more than 3,019 meters, near to the site, where the sensational Ötzi, the Iceman was found. However, there are also other beautiful hiking trips, e.g. around the lake, which are suitable for families. Around mid June and towards the mid of September, Vernago is centred around the sheep. For centuries, sheep have been driven onto the meadows of the back of the Ötztal Valley around June from where they return in their thousands towards the mid of September.

MASO CORTO 2,011 m a.s.l.

There are still more mountain areas. A wonderful backdrop of surrounding peaks, at a height of 2,000 meters, can be found all around Maso Corto, the highest of the five villages of Schnalstal Valley. The former grand farmhouse has developed into a sports village over the past four decades. Although some ski tourists discovered Maso Corto as a place for sports and relaxation, even at the beginning of the 30's, it was the young, active farmer of the Kurzhof, Leo Gurschler, who took the initiative to build a glacier cable way facility, which was put into operation on 12th July 1975. Although the village is still small, visitors will find numerous possibilities for a relaxing mountain holiday.

History & Culture

ALLERENGELBERG MONASTERY

Founded in 1326 by Carthusian monks, the Allerengelberg Monastery forms a dramatic backdrop to the picturesque village of Monte S. Caterina in Schnalstal Valley. The monks inhabited its walls in peace and seclusion for over 400 years. With the advent of secularization under Joseph II, the Carthusian abbey in the Schnalstal Valley was closed in 1782 and the buildings converted into living quarters. The former Carthusian abbey has remained intact and is open to visitors year round.

The Silentium Project in the village of Certosa is dedicated to the concept of silence in keeping with the peaceful atmosphere. Art exhibitions are sometimes held in the old cloister, and a contemplative walk known as the Via Monachorum leads to the former abbey.

THE SILENT VILLAGE

The village of Certosa in Schnalstal Valley has a unique history, having evolved from a monastery of the Carthusian order. If you go through Certosa today, you will recognise the former monastery and notice the striking silence. The silence was left behind from the original inhabitants. It provided the idea for the “Silentium” project which demonstrates the uniqueness of Certosa. A captivating video at the historic cloister tells us why the Count of Tirol wished to endow a monastery in the distant year of 1325 and why the monks decided to impose a vow of silence on themselves in this secluded place. The monastery, then called Allerengelberg, was a working monastery for 450 years. In 1782, Emperor Joseph II ordered its dissolution. Because nobody wanted to take over an entire empty monastery in this secluded area, the 12 monks’ cells, the large prior’s house and the beautiful monastery church were sold to poor families from the area. This is how the village of Certosa evolved over time from the Carthusian Monastery. In 1924, it burnt to the ground but was later rebuilt.

THE PILGRIMAGE CHURCH OF MADONNA DI SENALES

The history of the pilgrimage church of Madonna di Senales in the eponymous village reaches far back into the past. In 1304, a small 13 cm wooden statue of the Virgin Mary was found here. This was at the same spot where the Marian pilgrimage church is situated today - a church that originally evolved from a simple, Gothic chapel and was later renovated in the Baroque style. The Marian statue is still kept at the pilgrimage church and is now stored in the church monstrance. The church is a monument to a statue. All of 1,500 m above sea level, the pilgrimage village of Unser Frau was a stop-over for centuries for people coming from Augsburg using the Alpine crossing.

THINGS TO KNOW FOR SAFE HIKING

- 1 Planning: Information on the length and degree of difficulty are essential for a safe mountain experience. Always notify relatives, your host or the manager of the hut about the planned destination of your trip.
- 2 Assessment: Assess condition objectively and choose your trip accordingly. Set-off early and include extra time, to return before nightfall.
- 3 Pace and breaks: Choose a steady and regular walking pace. Include regular stops (in particular, if walking with children).
- 4 Drinks: Ensure that you are sufficiently hydrated! Choose drinks such as water, tea, or natural juices.
- 5 Mindfulness: Always show consideration for weaker members of the group. Point out dangers to other hikers and in case of emergency, render first aid.
- 6 Respect nature: Avoid noise and do not leave any wastes. Preserve vegetation and respect plants and animals, especially those under protection.
- 7 Safety: Always follow the markings and do not leave marked paths and tracks. Regularly check the walking map and if in doubt, turn around in good time.

Events & Highlights

CAMPUS TRANSUMANZA

From 20th to 22th June 2025, the Schnalstal Valley will be the setting for a very special opening weekend.

More information: info@schnalstal.it, +39 0473 679 148

TRANSUMANZA

JUNE & SEPTEMBER 2025

The transhumance in Schnalstal Valley, which is still practiced and deeply rooted in local tradition, dates back 600 years. This ancient tradition in Schnalstal Valley is now part of the Intangible Cultural Heritage. The annual migration in Schnalstal Valley is the only cross-border and trans-glacial transhumance in existence.

Every June, the shepherds lead flocks of 3,000 – 4,000 sheep on a mass migration from Vernago and Maso Corto across two mountain passes to the fertile pastures of Vent in neighboring Austria. The transhumance in the Schnalstal Valley covers more than 40 km, across gullies and snow-covered fields. In mid-September, the sheep and shepherds with the help of sheep dogs guide the flocks back to the Schnalstal Valley on the much safer return trip. At the end of the transhumance, the successful termination of the migration is celebrated.

ÖTZI GLACIER TOUR

From the 1st of July 2025 every Tuesday

The Ötzi Glacier Tour is an extremely varied one day round tour, which crosses the main chain of the Alps. It takes place every Tuesday and upon request. The undisputed highlight of this accompanied glacier trekking tour is the discovery site of Ötzi the Iceman (3,210 m).

Booking required | Get further information and/or book at the weekly information event „Aperitivo Ötzi Glacier Tour“ (on Mondays, 4.00 p.m., at archeoParc-Cafeteria) or contact the organizer: archeoParc Val Senales (+39 0473 676 020, www.oetzi-glacier-tour.it/en).

WORLD ART ON THE GLACIER

Olafur Eliasson, currently one of the world's most successful contemporary artists, unveiled a permanent public work of art he created on the Grawand Grat in October 2020. It is entitled “Our Glacier Perspectives” and can be reached comfortably in 15 minutes from the top station of the Schnalstal Glacier Cable Car.

The entrance to the work of art is 410 metres long and is divided by 9 gates arranged in intervals corresponding to the duration of the ice ages. At the end of the path is the pavilion made of steel and glass rings with a circular deck, created by the Danish-Icelandic world star and UN Special Ambassador for Sustainability. Viewers standing on it can use the pavilion as an astronomical tool, focusing their gaze on the surrounding rings that follow the apparent path of the Sun in the sky on a given day.

The promoter of the project for the installation of the artwork is the association Talking Waters Society; the project was financially supported by the state of South Tyrol and the municipality of the Schnalstal Valley as well as by the Schnalstaler Gletscherbahn AG.

SENALES SHEEP - SPECIALITY WEEKS DURING THE TRANSHUMANCE PERIOD

From the 6th of September to the 28th of September 2025 during the transhumance period, the chefs in the Schnalstal Valley and in the mountain huts and lodges, inspired by recipes handed down from their grandmothers' time, offer re-interpreted, light dishes with lamb, in addition to hearty fare such as traditional dishes with mutton.
